Before and After Surgery

Simple steps to keep your pet safe and comfortable.

Before surgery

- No food after 10 pm the night before. An empty stomach keeps anesthesia safe.
- Water is fine until 6 am on the morning of surgery, then please pick up the bowl.
- Take your dog for a short walk before drop-off so they can go to the toilet.
- Bring any medicines your pet takes, in their bottles, so we can check the doses.
- Rabbits, birds and other small pets should not be fasted. Bring a little of their usual food.

Your surgery day

Drop-off
7:30 - 8:30 am
A nurse goes over the plan with you and answers any questions.

During the day
We call you
We call as soon as your pet is awake and resting.

Pick-up
From 3 pm
We walk you through home care and any medicines.

What to bring

- Your pet on a lead or in a secure carrier
- Medicines and any special food
- A phone number where we can reach you all day

Before and After Surgery

After-care at home

After-care at home

- Keep your pet in a quiet, warm room for the first night, away from stairs and other pets.
- Offer a small meal (about half the usual amount) in the evening. Normal meals can start the next day.
- Check the incision twice a day. A little redness is normal; it should look a bit better each day.
- Keep the cone on, even if your pet does not love it. Licking is the main cause of problems.
- No baths or swimming for 10 days, and only short lead walks until the stitch check.
- Give medicines exactly as written on the label, and finish the whole course.

Call us if...

- the incision is open, swollen, hot or leaking
- your pet has not eaten within 24 hours, or keeps vomiting
- your pet seems in pain, very sleepy or weak after the first day
- you see pale gums, fast breathing or anything that worries you
